

Possibility of Storm Moving Inland Fades

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A hurricane watch was extended northward from Daytona Beach, Fla., to Myrtle Beach, S.C., today as hurricane Ginny drifted slowly up the Atlantic.

The storm was centered about 105 miles east-northeast of Daytona Beach and moving toward the northwest at five miles an hour. Peak winds of 75 m.p.h. barely qualified the storm as a hurricane.

As the season's seventh tropical storm plodded northward, gale warnings were extended to Savannah, Ga., and lowered south of Daytona Beach.

Little possibility remained that the hurricane would move inland over Florida. But because steering factors were ill-defined, forecasters maintained the hurricane watch for the state's northeast coast.

A slight change in direction toward the coast could bring a rapid increase in winds, forecasters cautioned. But forecaster Gordon Dunn said no important damage would be expected even if the storm moved ashore.

Some beach erosion from heavy swells was the only evidence of the storm's presence offshore. Pleasant fall weather prevailed from Miami to Georgia.

Sixty shrimp boats were bidding time at Port Canaveral, waiting for seas to subside. Work resumed at the huge Cape Canaveral missile complex.

Ginny boiled up off the North Carolina coast Sunday and was pushed southward by a large mass of cool air sweeping down from Canada. When the storm reached a point opposite north-eastern Florida it began to drift southward at decreasing speed until it pulled up opposite Cape Canaveral.

The missile test center battered down under Weather Bureau warnings.

Car Hits Bridge, Two Youths Die

State Trooper Darryl Rose said Stone was driving the car. The accident happened near Viola on Highway 62.

Court Rules Favorable to Parents

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled today that Mr. and Mrs. Archie Cude of near Mena shall keep custody of their children until the merits of a suit seeking to take the children from them because Cude will not have them vaccinated is heard by the Supreme Court.

The court allowed 45 days for completion of proceedings in Polk County courts and filing of an appeal to the Supreme Court.

Neighbors Shaw of Mena, attorney for Cude and his wife, asked the Supreme Court to step into the case because, he said, he feared that the Cudes might lose custody of the children before final disposition of the case.

Judge Wesley Howard, sitting as Polk Probate Judge, recently appointed Mrs. Ruth Johnson of the state Welfare Department as guardian of Cude's three youngest children and directed her to file a suit in chancery court seeking full custody.

Howard also sits as chancery judge in the county.

The guardianship order resulted from Cude's refusal to have the children vaccinated for smallpox and his inability to enroll them in public schools because they did not have the vaccinations.

Cude said vaccination was against his religious beliefs.

Shaw told the Supreme Court that under the guardianship order the Welfare Department had the right to take custody of the children and that this should not be done until the case is heard on appeal.

The next step is for the case to be heard in the chancery court and for an appeal to be taken from the decision of that court.

Cude is a farmer and craftsman who moved to Polk County 15 years ago from the Houston, Tex., area. He has five older children who attended school, Shaw said, without being vaccinated and without running into trouble.

Shaw said Cude's first brush with the law occurred several years ago when the state ordered him to vaccinate his cattle against Bangs disease. He sold his cattle, about 40 head, rather than do this.

Then, on three occasions, the state hauled him into court because his children were not attending school. Each time he was fined $10 for the offense, a misdemeanor, and ironically, the municipal judge who fined him was Shaw, who presides over the city court at Mena.

When Prosecutor Ben Core of De Queen filed the guardianship case in circuit court, Cude at first tried to represent himself but, on advance of the judge, employed Shaw as his attorney.

Eat Stewed Prunes Every Morning for Breakfast and Nothing Will Be Impossible

Nothing is impossible in life to a man who has the character to eat stewed prunes every morning for breakfast.

Foreign Aid Overhaul Next Year Inevitable

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has advised the administration to overhaul its foreign aid program next year or face the possibility of Congress doing it.

The committee — the program's best friend on Capitol Hill — turned out to be one of its severest critics in a report recommending passage of a $4,202,365,000 foreign aid authorization bill. The Senate starts debate on the bill Monday.

The report revealed that the committee seriously considered — but rejected — an amendment that would have terminated the aid program June 30, 1965, to force sweeping changes in its operations.

"The committee refrained from adopting this amendment in the expectation, which it hopes will not prove unjustified, that the administration will submit a fiscal year 1965 program to Congress which has been revamped in major respects," the report said.

For the fiscal year, starting next July 1, the committee specifically recommended the Agency for International Development curtail its program to eliminate from aid countries which can take care of themselves. It said "even more selectivity among countries should be introduced."

The report called for prompt and serious consideration of "a greatly increased utilization of multilateral agencies," such as the World Bank and subsidiaries like the International Development Association.

The report bristled with unexpected criticisms from a committee which recommended restoring $700,290,000 of a $1-billion House suit. The bill was only $327,250,000 shy of what President Kennedy requested.

It said evidence showed the program has been generally successful in strengthening the security and advancing the United States and the free world.

But the committee said it was not impressed with the administration's case for maintaining aid programs, even on a small scale, "in virtually every underdeveloped country in the free world and in a few developed countries."

Shaw said Cude's first brush with the law occurred several years ago when the state ordered him to vaccinate his cattle against Bangs disease. He sold his cattle, about 40 head, rather than do this.

Then, on three occasions, the state hauled him into court because his children were not attending school. Each time he was fined $10 for the offense, a misdemeanor, and ironically, the municipal judge who fined him was Shaw, who presides over the city court at Mena.

Mortician Dies Making a Talk

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — "Two cigarettes a day would pay for your funeral," said Robert A. McNutt, a Conway funeral director. Then he slumped dead over the podium.

McNutt, 59, died of a heart attack while giving a civic club speech on what he called the comparatively low cost of funerals.

The nation spends less on funerals than on liquor, cigarettes and other non-essentials, he said, but critics of the funeral profession are trying to "upset the funeral tradition."

Big Airlift Apparently Successful

By CARL HARTMAN
FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The Big Lift of the 2nd Airborne Division to Germany rapidly neared completion today well within its allotted schedule, a tremendous winner over space and weather.

Senior American officers directing the exercise in global mobility predicted the lift would end with the final troop transport landing at Sembach airfield in Germany at 10:40 p.m. (4:40 p.m. EST).

The first of the fleet of 234 planes started the lift from Texas Tuesday at 6:45 a.m. German time (12:45 a.m. EST).

Thus if the schedule is maintained, the elapsed time will be just five minutes short of 64 hours. The planners had a maximum of 72 hours to do the job.

As of mid-afternoon, Rhein-Main Air Base headquarters saw nothing to interfere with this schedule. Planes diverted by bad weather Wednesday and Wednesday night were all in operation again and were arriving from England and Scotland well inside the pattern. The Air Force said there was no backlog.

The Communists had their own ideas of what the maneuver was all about. A Radio Moscow commentator said it demonstrated the readiness of the United States "to show that American troops are at any moment ready to support the revenge-seekers in Bonn."

Units of the West German army are to take part in the maneuvers following the lift.

Whatever the Communist interpretation, there was no doubt that worry was the keynote in Bonn as top U.S. diplomats from European countries met to discuss their problems. West Germany was a prime subject.

Friday, Dean Rusk, U.S. secretary of state, arrives to take part and to see leading West German political figures.

With the big bulk of the division deployed in staging areas, officers handling the distribution of tanks, guns and other equipment were jubilant at the speed of this part of the exercise.

"Smoothest thing I've ever seen," said Brig. Gen. R. H. Safford. "I'm sure that in a tighter situation we can even beat this time."

Big Lift's clockwork operation and assurances by top American officers did not quiet the fears of West German officials and newspapers that the airlift presaged a reduction of American troops in Europe.

The worrying Germans believe the United States will argue that it has demonstrated its ability to ferry large numbers of troops over quickly to meet threats of trouble and the 250,000 U.S. troops in Europe therefore can be reduced.

A high U.S. official in Washington already has said that Secretary of State Dean Rusk will announce on a visit to West Germany this weekend that the United States does not expect to cut its forces in Europe. But a spokesman for Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's government gave notice Erhard will question Rusk about the situation when the secretary arrives in Bonn Friday.

Big Lift's schedule appeared threatened for a time during the night by a forecast of fog for the Rhein-Main Air Base near Frankfurt, the chief arrival point for the big jet transports. But the fog did not develop and the day dawned cloudy but clear.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A frontal system over the plains area was expected to touch off widely scattered shower activity in western Arkansas today — but again, there was no prospect for badly needed general rains.

The Weather Bureau said the shower activity would spread to eastern sections of the state Friday, but coverage will be spotty and many areas will not benefit.

The forecast called for partly cloudy today, mostly cloudy tonight and Friday with widely scattered thundershowers Friday and in the west portion this afternoon and tonight. There will be little change in temperatures, with highs of 78 to 88 and lows in the 60s.

Highs were in the 80s Friday, a repeat of the past week's temperatures. Overnight temperatures were somewhat higher as a result of variable cloudiness over the state Wednesday night. Keiser had a 12-degree rise in normal low, to 63. Gilbert had a chilly 43.

Describes Strafing by Cubans

By BOB M. GASSOWAY
CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Capt. Gerhard Krause declared today that "We looked right into their guns" as he described the sneak strafing of his ship off the coast of Cuba for 61 minutes early Tuesday.

"We laid on the floor but it wouldn't have helped, really. We were lucky — just plain lucky" not to wounded, said Krause in good English with a heavy German accent.

Krause described the attack after his own ship, the SS J. Louis, docked here about dawn. The ship had two-inch bullet holes on the right side and others along the deck.

Krause emphasized that none of the crewmen saw planes during the attack because of the darkness. He said it was very dark.

But they saw the flashes of the planes' guns as they fired. "It sounded like there were more than one (plane) because the attacks came one after the other," the captain said.

Krause said he was on the bridge with the junior third officer and a helmsman when they saw flares lighting up the sky an estimated 20 miles to his starboard (right) side.

The J. Louis at that time was about 16 miles off the Cuban coast, he said.

"Two flares then were dropped directly overhead," said the captain, as the attack began.

He was asked if he felt the pilots knew what type of ship they were firing on. He answered, "I think they knew what they were doing; they were shooting up the ship."

Krause said seven persons were on duty when the firing began.

The rest of the men in the 51-man crew were below in their quarters.

He said he ordered his radio operator, Will Urbanus, a 27-year-old man from the Netherlands to contact the U.S. Coast Guard.

Urbanus raised the Coast Guard station in Galveston, Tex., 20 minutes after the attack began and reported the strafing.

Way Cleared to Sell Corn to Red Nations

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has cleared the way for sale of 1.2 million bushels of corn to Communist Hungary. But the larger issue of wheat sales to the Soviet bloc remains confused.

Cabinet officers huddled Wednesday with a Soviet trade delegation and failed to iron out the chief obstacle to completion of the wheat deal—the higher shipping rates charged by American shipowners.

There is a growing feeling here that the problem can be resolved only by a White House decision, not through negotiation.

The corn sale to Hungary was resolved smoothly because corn and other grains are exempted from the condition that wheat sold to the Soviet bloc must be carried in American ships where available.

The Commerce Department Wednesday approved the $1,329,384-shipment by issuing a license for its export, and a spokesman for Cargill, Inc., big Minneapolis grain processing and shipping firm, said the corn will be shipped soon, probably from an East Coast port.

Involved are 30,000 long tons of corn—about one-third the amount the Communists are expected to buy and a mere trickle when compared to the $250-million worth of wheat whose sale now appears clouded.

In giving advance approval of grain sales to the Soviet bloc President Kennedy stipulated that shipments be made on American ships when they were available. Last Friday the Commerce Department exempted grains other than wheat from the requirement.

Soviet officials are balking at the higher rates charged by American shippers—about 20 to 30 cents a bushel higher than foreign rates. This led to Wednesday's luncheon at the State Department, although the United States had advised Moscow that the wheat deal ceased being a government matter once Kennedy had cleared the way for the sales.

SW Hardest Hit by Forest Fire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
State Forester Fred Lang said today that Wednesday was "a very good day" for forest fires, relatively speaking.

Lang meant that foresters had to fight only 18 fires and lost only 92 acres of grass and timber land.

The daily average, since the current drought created a critical forest fire threat last month, has been about 30 fires and about 500 acres lost.

The Weather Bureau forecast scattered showers in Southwest Arkansas. Lang said these would help, but not much. Southwest Arkansas has been hardest hit by fires.

Firemen Put Out Three Fires

Local firemen were called out three times yesterday, to two grass fires and a house fire.

About 11 o'clock last night Police spotted a fire in the old Cannon home on Main which Dr. Harold Brents is remodeling into offices. Firemen said the blaze was confined to one room with little damage resulting.

A grass fire on Highway 67 east was brought under control and at the Split Hickory plant fire burned out several old wrecked cars before being brought under control. There was no damage.

Salesman Is Acquitted in Murder Trial

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Robert Van Hooser, 28, a Texarkana salesman, was acquitted Wednesday in Pulaski Circuit Court of the fatal shooting last Dec. 15 of Mrs. Dora Faye Tinnin, 28, at her Little Rock apartment.

The all-male jury deliberated 17 minutes before reaching the verdict.

Van Hooser, who admitted living with Mrs. Tinnin for several months, said she was already dead when he arrived at her apartment the night she was slain.

William N. Fitzhugh, 24, a Little Rock pharmacy student, testified that he saw Van Hooser kill Mrs. Tinnin. Fitzhugh, the state's main witness, was wounded in the leg.

Mrs. Tinnin was separated from her husband.

Defense attorneys said at the start of the trial that Mrs. Tinnin might have been killed at the South Main Businessmen's Club. There was no testimony to this effect. In closing arguments, defense attorney Max Howell said he had proof of the allegation but did not have the facilities to develop it. He said he could not get witnesses to come forth.

Howell said police had used "maximum effort to conceal evidence," notably a diary Mrs. Tinnin was said to have kept, listing names of her men friends. The diary has not been located.

Howell told the jury the charge against Van Hooser was a "frame-up."

Judgment Against Attorney Appealed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Greene County case in which a woman was awarded a $12,397 judgment against her attorney was appealed to the Arkansas Supreme Court today.

The judgment was against L.V. Rhine, a Paragould attorney, and went to Mrs. Mildred Haley, whom Rhine represented in a divorce suit against R. J. Haley.

Mrs. Haley alleged that Rhine failed to make a property settlement, worked out in advance as part of the divorce action.

A work order was issued this week for construction of a bridge across Little Missouri River on new location of Highway 53 at the Nevada-Clark county line. The bridge and approach will cost $365,000 and the contractor is R. N. Reynolds & Sons of Camden, the local Highway Department announced.

The Junior Class of Spring Hill High school will stage a talent show Thursday night at 7:30 at the school auditorium and admission is 25 and 35 cents. Jimmie Griffin will be master of ceremonies.

A reminder the Little League game tonight is at 6 o'clock and at 7 p.m. Saturday.

JFK Taking Hand in Civil Rights Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has taken a personal hand in an attempt to win passage this year of a civil rights bill.

But the best the President could get out of a White House conference with House leaders Wednesday night, informed sources said, was a decision to delay until next Tuesday a crucial committee vote on a bill which the administration feels is too strong to get through Congress.

Informed sources disclosed Wednesday night's one-hour meeting at the White House. Present were House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass.; Democratic leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma; Republican leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana and his assistant, Leslie C. Arrands of Illinois; and Reps. Emanuel Celler D-N.Y. and William M. McCulloch of Ohio, chairman and ranking Republican member of the House Judiciary Committee.

Later it was learned that a House Judiciary Committee meeting scheduled for today will be postponed until next Tuesday, giving administration forces another chance to swing more committee votes behind a compromise civil rights bill more in line with the President's midsummer proposals to Congress.

Administration sources said Tuesday that they had convinced some Northern and Western Democrats on the committee to vote against the stronger bill on grounds that such a measure would be defeated in the House and might cripple any hope for civil rights legislation this year.

But McCulloch found that he could muster only three of the 14 Republican votes on the committee for the weaker compromise measure.

In August a subcommittee dominated by Northern liberal Democrats approved Kennedy's proposals. But they also tacked on other provisions, such as a fair employment practices commission and power for the attorney general to file suits on behalf of alleged victims of civil rights violations.

The program outlined by the President earlier this year — which is included in the bill now before the committee — would, among other things, give the attorney general more power to insure Negro voting rights and prohibit racially segregated schools. It also would ban discrimination in public accommodations.

All Hunting in State Banned by the G&F

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Arkansas Game and Fish Commission called a halt Wednesday to hunting in the state until the forest fire emergency is diminished.

Ed Asbaugh, acting director of the commission, said the order remains in effect "Until Arkansas gets a general rain."

The order closed the season on squirrel, rabbit, fox and other small game and postponed any season which may have been scheduled to open before it rains.

The first deer season is scheduled Nov. 11-16.

The only other time that hunting was banned was in 1952 after an extended drought.

Wednesday's order was expected. Rainfall in the state this year is over 18 inches below normal, no appreciable amount of rain has fallen in six weeks and temperatures have risen to new highs on 16 days of this month.

No break in the drought was forecast.

The order, which also banned woods training of dogs, was issued Tuesday by the closing of hunting in 10 Northeast Arkansas counties.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who predicted two weeks ago that the first deer season would be postponed unless it rained, said Wednesday he thought the commission had made a wise decision.

Rangers of the state Forestry Commission, aided by Highway Department and Game and Fish Commission personnel, had a light break Wednesday in the number of fires occurring.

Only eight were reported Wednesday.

Teams Taper Training for Sat. Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southwest Conference teams tapered off their training today in preparation for the weekend's football schedule, featured by a thriller set Saturday night between top-ranked Texas and Rice.

Apparently the old Texas nemesis, Rice Coach Jess Neely, has his team ready for the Longhorns.

Tackle John Mims is still a question mark and may miss the Texas game. He's still favoring a knee that was wrenched in the Penn State game. But Neely said he was pleased with the week's workouts. The Owls will be out to repeat last year's performance when they tied Texas, No. 1 then, too, and knocked them from their top spot.

The Longhorns worked for an hour and 45 minutes against Rice plays Wednesday with the defense getting 30 minutes of scrimmage. The offense ran only signal drills with no contact.

All the "Horns, except Ernie Koy Jr., who is out for the season, appear in good shape for the Owl test.

Baylor, preparing for an invasion of Kyle Field against the Texas Aggies, had good news.

Two players who have been out with knee injuries all season are finally back with the team. They are Dwin Heath, junior end from Fort Worth, and sophomore quarterback Roger Mike Marshall from Irving, Tex.

The Bears gave attention to full team defense and both running and passing offense in a long, hard workout Wednesday.

The Aggies, who know of the prowess of the Bears' Don Trull, spent most of the week working on pass defense. Coach Hank Foldberg told the Cadets that "Baylor leads the nation in passing and is 11th in total offense." He called Trull the finest passer in college football.

John Nilson has been moved to a starting guard slot, replacing injured Mike Swan, who was hurt in the 14-14 tie with TCU last week. It was the only first-team line-up change.

Arkansas, the conference's pre-season favorite and probably one of the most disappointed teams in the nation to date, had another setback when fullback

Lindsey Suffers a Hip Injury

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)

Injuries, which sidelined key seniors and juniors before the season began, dipped into the sophomore ranks of Arkansas' football team Wednesday.

Jim Lindsey, who started the season at tailback and moved to fullback for the Texas game, sustained a bruise on the thigh. Trainer Bill Ferrell was to look the bruise over today and decide whether Lindsey, Arkansas' leading rusher, can play Saturday afternoon at Fayetteville against the University of Tulsa.

Coach Frank Broyles said Wednesday's practice was pleasing, except for the injury to Lindsey.

Wes Bryant, Tommy Moore and Jim Grizzle were named captains for the Tulsa game.

Homecoming for Juniors Tonight

Hope Juniors celebrate homecoming tonight at Hammons Stadium against the North Heights team of Texarkana. A preliminary game between grade-school teams will start at 6 p.m. Admission to tonight game is 50 and 25 cents, for one or both.

The Mound Builders Museum at Wilson, represents more than half a century of archeological delving.

Jim Lindsey received a practice injury. He may be lost for the Hogs' game with Tulsa Saturday at Fayetteville.

Texas Tech wound up final signal drills at Lubbock. Coach J. T. King groomed sophomore halfbacks Billy Weise and Johnny Agan to replace senior Roger Gill, who is sidelined for the SMU game in Dallas with a shoulder separation.

Jerry Don Balch, Raider junior end, rejoined the team for practice after being out two weeks with a shoulder injury.

SMU's Mustangs went through slowed down workouts because of a host of injuries, which Coach Hayden Fry hoped were all minor.

Texas Christian's Frogs, jarred by the tie with Texas A&M last week don't play this weekend. Coach Abe Martin put them through no-contact work but promised rougher drills later in the week as the Frogs prepare for their Nov. 2 game with Baylor.

Thinks Bobcats Will Beat Magnolia Here

By BILL SIMMONS

Associated Press Staff Writer

Texarkana's Razorbacks get a chance Friday night to accomplish what could have been called fantastic six weeks ago—beat three top Big Ten Conference football teams in one month.

The Razorbacks stopped Hall's Warriors impressively in Texarkana Oct. 4 and belted Little Rock Central on Oct. 17. In between, Texarkana thumped Hot Springs.

The foe this week is Fort Smith, the No. 3 team in the state and third in current Big Ten standings.

Hall, Central and Fort Smith were counted top contenders for the Big Ten title this year by the league's coaches, but the pre-season consensus had little respect for Texarkana, which now is the No. 2 team in the state and tied for first with Pine Bluff, the defending conference champion, for the Big Ten lead.

The Zebras, ranked tops in the state in this week's Associated Press Arkansas high school football poll step outside the league this week against Camden of Region 4A.

If the Razorbacks overcome Fort Smith's Grizzlies, a relatively smooth route lies ahead to at least a tie for the conference championship.

None of the other four top teams — Fort Smith, Hall, Central and Pine Bluff—would have it so easy. Example: Hall and Fort Smith play Nov. 1; Central meets Pine Bluff Nov. 15; Central and Hall tangle on Thanksgiving Day.

But this week, this is how we see them:

TEXARKANA 7, Fort Smith 6. Against the Grizzlies' line, there never is much scoring.

Both teams managed only one touchdown against a common opponent—Pine Bluff—but the Razorbacks got the point after (for a resounding 7-7 tie) and Fort Smith didn't (and lost, 7-6).

The formula is the same. EL DORADO 14, Little Rock Central 13. And calling it an upset.

BLYTEVILLE 12, Jonesboro 7. A sixth straight conference loss for the Hurricane.

PINE BLUFF 24, Camden 6. Breathing easy.

NORTH LITTLE ROCK 14, Conway 0. This is one both teams like to win, but the Wildcats have the makings this year.

SMACKOVER 14, Hot Springs 6. Or worse.

Now, into the Class AA regions:

Springfield, Mo., Central 21, Fayetteville 7. Too much manpower.

Rogers 14, Harrison 6. The better record.

Springdale 20, Berryville 13. The better line.

Van Buren 12, Subiaco 0. A nice spot for an upset, but not likely.

Forrest City 7, Wynne 6. A good one to win, for either team. Stuttgart 12, Helena 0. Mean defense.

West Memphis 21, Newport 3. Speed.

Benton 30, Sylvan Hills 7. Too much power.

Little Rock Catholic 14, Morrilton 13. In a good Region 3A battle.

Jacksonville 13, Cabot 7. But Cabot may hand the Red Devils another surprise setback.

Searcy 13, Mabelvale 6. The nod to passing.

Russellville 20, Clarksville 6. The Cyclone has too many horses in this good area fight.

Crossett 7, Bastrop, La. 0. Against better judgment.

Hope 19, Magnolia 6. The Bobcats have beaten better teams.

Tech Player May Get in Final Game

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Three days ago, Georgia Tech end Ted Davis convened a one-man kangaroo court. As judge and jury, he convicted himself of kicking an opponent in the face and sentenced himself to resign from the football team for "this terrible thing that I did in anger."

A higher court will review his case.

Tech Coach Bobby Dodd said Wednesday that "I definitely will not use Davis in our next four games. But because of the attitude shown by Davis and my personal sympathy for a boy who made a mistake—though a big one—I plan to review his case following the Alabama game."

This would make Davis, a senior, available for the last game on the Tech schedule, against arch-rival Georgia.

Davis sent himself into exile Monday after publicly apologizing for kicking Auburn halfback David Rawson in the face during a 29-21 loss to Auburn last Saturday.

Davis has made no personal appeal for another chance. But the Georgia Tech athletic office says it has received numerous requests for Davis' reinstatement. Some came from members of the Tech squad and others from Auburn supporters.

Dodd ran into another problem during the team's workout for Saturday's Tulane game when starting halfback Joe Auer was stepped on in a no-contact drill. But x rays revealed there were no broken bones in the bruised foot and Auer is expected to be ready for the Green Wave.

Elsewhere around the country, the injury list also was the main item of concern.

Arkansas fullback Jim Lindsey was kicked above the thigh pad in practice and suffered a severe bruise. He limped off the field, and may be lost for Saturday's game against Tulsa.

Fish for Hempstead Ponds

SOME 24 FARMERS MET THE FISH DELIVERY TRUCK today to get Bluegill and Redear perch for their newly constructed ponds. The fish were furnished free of charge by the U.S. Fish Hatcheries at Natchitoches, La. These newly constructed ponds are stocked with 1,000 perch and 100 bass per surface acre of water.

DUE TO THE DRY WEATHER 20 FARMERS THAT HAVE constructed new ponds since Jan. 1, 1963 reported they had no water for their fish. It is hoped to get a redelivery for them after sufficient rain puts water in their ponds.

SOME OF THE LARGER PONDS THAT WERE STOCKED by this delivery was Thomas Hays who received 5,000 perch, Dewey Houghland, 3,000. E. C. Formby, 1,500, Jesse Craig, 2,000, W. O. Weaver, 1,500. Bass will be delivered for these farmers in April. These farmers should start fertilizing the water in their ponds now for best fish production.

Berra Takes Over New Job Today

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Yogi Berra, the squat catcher with the quotable wit, is expected to become the 17th manager of the New York Yankees today.

The announcement will be made at a morning press conference just 48 hours after the one at which Ralph Houk, the man Berra is expected to succeed, was elevated to general manager. Houk, who led the Yankees to three pennants and two world championships in three years, succeeded Roy Hamey, who resigned because of ill health.

The naming of any one other than Berra would come as a complete surprise. A Yankee official told The Associated Press that Berra had known for several days the manager's job was his. Yogi himself has been in seclusion on orders from the front office.

That Berra was considered managerial timber came as a surprise to some but not to knowledgeable baseball people who respect Yogi's keen analytical mind, native intelligence and ability to get along with people.

Berra's imminent graduation from player-coaching ranks to the managership comes as no surprise to Casey Stengel, who led the Yankees to 10 pennants in 12 years before giving way to Houk in 1961.

"They did some surprising things where I was there," said the skipper of the New York Mets, "but this move doesn't surprise me at all."

"There's nothing wrong with Berra. He's been a catcher for many years, calling the pitches and studying the batters. I found him to be a good man behind the plate. He had to be or he wouldn't have been in all those Series and on those championship teams."

Stengel pointed out that Berra, 38, who has played 17 full seasons with the Yankees, should be familiar with all the pitchers and batters in the league.

Miss Barbara June Humphries Becomes Bride Of John Paul Tatum In Candlelight Ceremony

Wedding vows were repeated by Miss Barbara June Humphries, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Crowell Humphries of Shreveport, Louisiana, and John Paul Tatum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles William Tatum of Lubbock, Texas in a candlelight ceremony held at seven o'clock Saturday evening, October 19th in the Creswell Avenue Church of Christ in Shreveport, Louisiana.

Mrs. Gussie Lambert, minister of the church, officiated at the beautiful and impressive double ring ceremony. A large central arrangement of White gladioli, jade trees, and branch candelabra holding tall white tapers, were flanked on either side by candle trees, entwined with greenery, burning white cathedral tapers.

A chorus of twenty-five voices sang "O Promise Me," "Because," "I Love You Truly," and the wedding march.

Wedding guests were ushered to their seats by Don C. Ruggles, uncle of the bride, of Texarkana, and Joe Huddleston of Shreveport.

Prior to the ceremony, the candles were lighted by Miss Susan Tatum, and Billy Tatum, niece and nephew of the bridegroom. Miss Tatum was dressed in gold crystalline with a band of gold flowers in her hair.

The bride's three sisters, who served as her attendants wore steeled length dresses of gold peau de soie fashioned with molded bodies and belled skirts elbow length sleeves, and dyed to match shoes. Their headdresses were of matching peau de soie, which held their brief tulle veils. They carried cascades of brone and gold chrysanthemums, edged with ivy leaves.

Miss Dianne Humphries was maid of honor, and Misses Judy and Peggy Humphries were bridesmaids.

Little Miss Donna Jean Ruggles of Texarkana, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a lace trimmed white dress with a band of yellow flowers in her hair and at her wrist, and carried a dainty white basket from which she scattered rose petals in the path of the bride.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, was beautifully gowned in a floor length model of white peau de soie with both bodice and skirt applied with Alencon lace and seed pearls. The train, which extended from a bow at the back waistline, was also applied in this manner. A crown of seed pearls held her flowing veil of silk illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white stephanotis, pom pon chrysanthemums, centered with a white orchid.

The bridegroom's brother, C. W. Tatum, Jr. of Shreveport was his best man, and Robert F. Sexton of Lubbock, Texas, and Dick Miller of Tucson, Arizona, were groomsmen.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Humphries chose a beige lace dress with matching accessories. She pinned an orchid at her shoulder. Mrs. Tatum, mother of the bride groom, wore a cranberry wool crepe dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was an Orchid.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Eleanor Room of the Mid-City Motor Hotel at which the Bride's parents were hosts. The bride's table was covered with a cloth of white tulle banded in satin, and decorated with wedding bells. The brides bouquet in the center was flanked by branched silver candelabra burning white tapers. The four tiered wedding cake and silver punch bowl were placed at opposite ends of the table.

DOROTHY DIX

THE MARRIAGE GO-ROUND

By Helen Worden Erskine
Dear Helen: I'm haunted by the fact that I forced my husband to leave the house when we decided on a legal separation. He wanted us to go our separate ways but remain under the same roof for the sake of our three children. He left, only to return the following week claiming what I need are some men on the side to change my outlook on life. I was aghast. How can you live with a man like that?

I asked him to see a priest or marriage counselor. He said "No," in a loud voice. He seems to think he can do as he likes with the girls, dancing, kissing, and petting them right before me. He calls it putting on the positive ends of the table. Mrs. Denise Van Bibber served the punch, and Miss Judy Conners, the cake, assisted by Miss Sally Worrell, Mrs. Virginia Page, and Miss Sandra Proctor, cousin of the bride, of El Dorado. Guests were invited to sign the guest book by Mrs. Spencer King. Rice bags were passed among the guests by Misses Debra and JoAnn Irvin of Little Rock, and Murry Ruggles of Arkadelphia.

When the bridal couple left on their wedding trip, the bride was wearing a tangerine wool suit, with a mink hat, and the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

After a wedding trip to the Gulf Coast, the couple will reside at 3723 Richmond St. in Shreveport.

Out of town guests included persons from New Orleans, Lubbock, Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, Texas, Hope, Arkadelphia, Texarkana Little Rock, and El Dorado, Arkansas and Tucson and Phoenix, Arizona.

Coming and Going

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. West have been visiting his mother, Mrs. J. B. Clearley and now have gone to El Dorado to visit her mother, Mrs. F. W. Cabiness who will return home with them to Midland, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shiver came home Tuesday night after a 10-day trip to see the Ronnie Nations family in Kingsport, Tenn., and they also went to Gatlinburg, Tenn., and several interesting points in North Carolina.

Dr. and Mrs. James Nelson, San Carlos, Calif., arrived Wednesday for a family gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Horton. Those coming on Friday will be Mr. and Mrs. Bob Nelson and Carolyn, Paris, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. Colonel H. Nelson, Oklahoma City, Marion and Bill Williams, Blytheville, and Miss Mary Charlene Horton, League City, Tex. Mrs. W. W. Gore and Mr. and Mrs. Don Hall, all of Stamps, will join the group Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cline Franks returned to their home in Fayetteville Sunday and were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Davis for a visit.

Births
A2c. and Mrs. Glen R. Warrendorn, of Lubbock, Texas, announce the arrival of a girl, Elaine Marie, born October 19 weighing 6 pounds and 8 ounces. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pease of Lubbock and great grand parents are Mr. and Mrs. Mark Yocom of Hope.

dramatics if I protest. There is talk all over town concerning his going-on. I demanded a divorce. He said I could have the children, house, furniture and car. Now here he is back again, saying our marriage is worth one more try. Is it? —Bewildered

Dear Bewildered: Your letter conveys so many conflicts, contradictions and confusions that it qualifies as a fairly realistic picture of many marriages. Whether yours is worth "one more try" is for you and your husband to decide.

I can only help by pointing out certain angles of your problem. Number One is your basic concept of what marriage means. Your husband feels that in exchange for material things he has the right to go his separate way. You evidently are sorely tempted by economic security (as is every woman), but at the same time are outraged by the fact that you are not Number one in his affections. The one basic ingredient, love, is missing, this is the crux of your problem.

Both men and women, united in producing children, often use them as an excuse for the prevention of disunion. But if it's the only reason, I can't help but be skeptical about the strength of the other ties holding man and wife together.

Even little children sense incompatibility between their parents. They may not understand it, or be able to put into words, but they're conscious of its presence as of a tangible barrier. Just because you're all living under the same roof doesn't make you one big happy family.

I recommend that you and your husband resurrect your original marriage contract, re-read it, and then decide, with your hearts and your minds, whether it should be upheld or cancelled.

Dear Helen: I'm just another teen with a problem that's mushrooming into a crisis. I am a combination of French, English and Italian and the boy I like is Spanish, French and Greek. My parents are prejudiced because he's deep olive-skinned and I am fair. I tell them such prejudice is immaturity. Do you agree? —Unhappy

Dear Unhappy: Agreed —prejudice, not based on scientific fact, is "immature." Most Americans are combinations of many nationalities. That's one of our chief assets. I wish you and your parents could see the monument at Valley Forge in memory of the brave men who won our country's freedom some of the names inscribed there, you probably wouldn't even be able to pronounce. I think French, English, Italian, Spanish, and Greek is a wonderful combination. But aren't you and your parents rushing things just a bit?

Dear Helen: Is 59 too old for an active woman, to "Travel and Work"? I have raised two children of my own plus 10 stepchildren. They're all grown and I'm free but lonely. —Energetic

Dear Energetic: You've answered your own question with that adjective "active." If, at 59, you are free, lonely and able (financially and physically), to travel, by all means do so. As far as work is concerned, no one can guarantee that. Send a self-addressed stamped envelope for my leaflet, "Travel While You Work."

Have your a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Best Buys at Markets This Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Production of pork in recent weeks has been the highest since last March and shoppers can look forward to a gradual gain in supplies through the rest of the year.

One big Eastern chain of supermarkets is featuring pork chops at 79 cents a pound, off 20 cents from last week. Other cuts among the specials are rib end, loin end, rib half and loin half.

Veal is another meat that will catch the bargain hunters' eye. In the East, veal chops at 89 cents a pound are down 26 cents from last week.

Also in ample supply at meat counters are many cuts of high quality beef, lamb and broiler fryers.

Good buys also can be found in eggs and dairy products. Potatoes are plentiful and a bargain buy in the Southeast.

Beef gets the principal role in the Midwest with specials including rump and other pot roasts, round and sirloin steaks and ground beef.

Apples, especially Red Rome and Jonathans, and Tokay grapes are favorites in the Southwest.

In the West, shoppers will find plenty of flounder, sole, halibut, rockfish, salmon and cod.

The fall harvest of vegetables will provide an abundance of snap beans, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, celery, cucumbers, greens, lettuce, onions, green and red peppers, potatoes, pumpkins, squash, sweet potatoes and tomatoes.

Best buys among fruits are apples, cranberries, grapefruit, grapes and oranges.

Can't Get Burton to Cooperate

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP)—It seemed like a gossip's dream: Richard Burton on location with Lolita.

Indeed, some practitioners of fanciful journalism here already have tried to dream up visions of Lolita, 17-year-old actress Sue Lyon, trying to lure Burton away from Elizabeth Taylor.

The only trouble is that nobody involved is cooperating. Conscious of the situation, Burton is seen alone with the young actress only when they are in front of the cameras. He has vetoed any photos showing Sue and himself alone.

As for Sue, she says: "I don't see how anyone could connect us when he spends all his time with Elizabeth and I spend all of my time with Mario."

Mario is actor Hampton Fancher III. He once worked as a flamenco dancer in Spain under an assumed name that his friends still use.

Like Miss Taylor, Fancher is often near the set of "Night of the Iguana." Whenever Sue isn't working, she hurries to him.

"Night of the Iguana" is Sue's first picture since the sensational "Lolita," which made her a famous 14-year-old. She has no regrets about the film or the long lapse between pictures.

"I went into 'Lolita' with my eyes wide open," she said. "I knew that it would be controversial and that it might reflect on me. But you know, people are a lot nicer than you give them credit for. I've never had an unkind of vulgar thing said to me because I was Lolita."

Sue, whose experience before "Lolita" had been two television shows and a commercial, had these final words:

"I know I'll be tagged Lolita for a while, but I hope I can do other things that will make people forget it. It was the best way to find success in a hurry. Without it, I'd still be going on interviews for television commercials."

Farmer's Body Found in Woods

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The body of John L. McCaslin, 56, a Garland County truck farmer, was found in a wooded area near his home in the nearby Royal Community Tuesday.

Deputy Sheriff Kenneth McKinney said McCaslin had been shot in the head with a 12-gauge shotgun. He said McCaslin had gone by a daughter's house about noon Tuesday, gotten three shotgun shells, and said he was going hunting.

The body was found by a group of boys.

Dr. D. C. Lee, Garland County Coroner, was expected to rule on the death today. He said there was no evidence of foul play.

Postmaster Nominations

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has sent to the Senate nominations of Jacob F. Dickerson for postmaster at Evening Shade, Ark., and Wilford W. Taylor for postmaster at Hoxie.

Marijuana Sale Brings Arrest

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—Agreement to sell an undercover federal narcotics agent $45,000 worth of marijuana landed Cleophus L. Holmes, 54, and his wife, Eddie Lee, 19, in jail Tuesday.

Lt. Thurman Quisenberry said the couple was arrested after making arrangements to sell 30 pounds of marijuana to an agent posing as a buyer.

Quisenberry said the agent had purchased a quantity of dope from Holmes and his wife, Negroes, during a month-long investigation. The purchases ranged from five pounds to 30 pounds, costing $1,400 wholesale, Quisenberry said. The $45,000 represented the retail value of the marijuana arranged for, he added.

Source of the marijuana has not been determined, he said. Holmes and his wife were held in the Miller County Jail under $2,500 bond, each.

Thinks Wheat Deal Will Go Through

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite possible difficulties over shipping rates, Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges said today his best judgment is that there will be wheat sales to the Soviets and some of the others.

"We have at least a half dozen applications for export licenses, but none of them have completely met all of the specifications," Hodges told a news conference.

President Kennedy, in announcing approval of wheat sales to the Soviet Union and other Eastern European nations earlier this month, said the cargoes "will be carried in available American ships, supplemented by ships of other countries as required."

The Hungarians are known to be upset about the higher rates charged by American ships.

"I don't think the Hungarians have pulled out completely, but it is understandable they are taking a second look," Hodges said.

Hodges said he has heard the American rates might be higher than those of foreign ships because of higher costs, particularly labor. But he noted that world rates go up when the demand for cargo space exceeds supply.

He also said it is entirely possible some of the wheat will move in foreign ships, if enough American shipping is not available.

Estimates are that about four million tons of U.S. wheat and wheat flour will be shipped.

Hodges said that in the half-dozen applications for export licenses, three or four nations are involved. He mentioned Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union.

A Soviet delegation is due here today to discuss the wheat deal. Hodges said they will be dealing primarily with private American traders but will also want to talk about the shipping rates and with the Agriculture Department. He said he did not know just what their plans might be.

Youth Gets $10 a Week, Spends All

EDITOR'S NOTE — How do the teen-agers spend the billions of dollars at their disposal? This second of two articles reports on where their money goes and what it means to the economy.

Today's Business Mirror
By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven-year-old Donald Moger gets $10 a week allowance from his parents and spends it all.

This New York teen-ager's spending habits are fairly typical of the 9 million boys aged 14 to 17, who, along with teenage girls, make up a mammoth market that has emerged since World War II.

Those boys spend $16 billion a year on everything from hot dogs to cars.

Donald, who boasts his spending power with part-time jobs, spends his money on clothing, records, hot rod books, refreshments, dates and a wide variety of other things.

Clothes are the top spending item for both boys and girls. They use their own money except for big ticket items such as coats, suits and dresses.

"Someone sets the style — the leader in the group," says Donald. "Someone will buy light pants and then we all will."

Despite the tendency to follow the leader and an affinity for fads, teen-agers generally get an "A" from market analysts for their purchases.

Some market experts say they are better shoppers than their parents.

"They're rather astute in the selection of wearing apparel," says Morton Minsky, president of Diamond Sales Corp., a 30-year-old New York consultant firm that concentrates on the boys market.

"They latch onto fads but these fads have to be in good taste."

Girls spend $300 million a year, an average of $29 each, on phonograph records, accounting for 50 per cent of all record sales.

They spend $180 million a year buying one-fourth of all greeting cards sold.

Their annual bill for apparel is $3.6 billion and for footwear $562 million.

Teen-age girls, representing 11 per cent of the female population, account for 22 per cent of women's cosmetic sales.

All told, 11,116,000 girls spend $6.3 billion a year.

As for boys, it is estimated that 50 per cent of high school seniors own cars, 86 per cent own a camera, 39 per cent own a rifle or gun, 76 per cent use hair tonic, 72.2 per cent own electric trains and 17.9 per cent own typewriters.

ESD Placed 11,253 in Jobs in August

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Non-agricultural job placements by the Employment Security Division in Arkansas last month increased 6.4 per cent over placements in August, the ESD said Tuesday.

The ESD said it placed 11,253 persons in non-agricultural jobs. Agricultural placements reaching 38,353 as the cotton harvest hit its peak.

The agency said new applications for work decreased 7.7 per cent from August, with new claims for unemployment insurance dropping to 6,313 — 433 fewer than in August. The number of persons drawing unemployment insurance the last week of September decreased 1,014 from the last week of August, the division said.

Benefit payments in September were 134,110 less than August payments.

Cotton Bill Designed to Help Mills

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. William Fulbright D-Ark., asked President Kennedy today to press for congressional passage of a cotton bill. The bill, Fulbright conceded, is designed to help domestic textile mills — "not the farmers."

But, he said, the cotton farmer cannot prosper if the mills don't.

The bill, approved some months ago by the House Agriculture Committee, is aimed at ending an existing two-price system for cotton by providing a domestic subsidy to offset an 8½ cent a pound export subsidy.

There is considerable doubt throughout the cotton industry, Fulbright told Kennedy in a letter, whether the administration is actively seeking passage of a cotton bill this year. The industry, he said, has been in a "confused state" since early this year over prospects for a bill.

Domestic textile mills say that because of the export subsidy on U.S. cotton—which permits foreign mills to purchase cotton below prices paid by U.S. mills—they cannot compete in the textile markets and must use more synthetic fibers and less cotton.

"I am not urging the administration to get behind the House bill on the basis that it is satisfactory in all respects," Fulbright said. "It is a bill to help the mills—not the farmers. But I realize that in the long run the cotton farmer cannot prosper if the mills are suffering."

The bill, he said, would give the mills "a subsidy considerably greater than that needed to compete with foreign mills, and this unearned windfall will come at the expense of the farmer."

In 1864, flour sold for $3.00 a pound, and a turkey cost $20.00.

STAY YOUNG WITH PROPER DIET

Canned salmon folded into pancake batter contributes more than color and flavor. It adds much needed protein to the diet.

The most essential food element necessary for youth and vigor is protein and few people eat enough high protein foods daily to give them the minimum requirement of eighty grams. Older citizens need even more, for it is protein that replaces worn-out tissue and builds new. There are different kinds of protein, too, some more complete than others. Canned salmon, for example, is a complete protein food, containing all the essential amino acids in a readily assimilated form. It is also a rich source of important minerals and vitamins, including Vitamin D, the sunshine vitamin. In addition, it is a colorful food, as uniquely delicious as it is nourishing.

Because the flavor of canned salmon is so delicate, it blends perfectly with all manner of vegetables, grains, and pasta. It makes a wonderfully nutritious contribution to a package of

Says Home Food Ban Is for Public

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A state Health Department ban of sale of home-cooked goods is in the public interest, said Croo Jones, director of the department's Food and Drug Control Division.

State Rep. Norman Wimpy of Craighead County complained to the department earlier this week about the rule. He said he opposed "government by directive." Jones said he had received other complaints.

Jones said there is great danger of an epidemic caused by contaminated foods and that Health Department employees cannot inspect private homes as they do food service establishments.

The regulation does not extend to family pot-luck lunches or social picnics for private groups, Jones said, only to public sale of goods cooked in non-inspected facilities.

Many churches have complied with health regulations in installing proper kitchen equipment, Jones said. The ban does not apply to them or to school lunch programs.

Jones said the department was given authority to make such bans in the state Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act of 1953.

Eyes Focus on Houston and His Work

By IRISH, DONNELLY

NEW YORK (AP)—A new boss always attracts attention, but an extraordinary amount focused on Lawrence N. Houston.

It was expected. When he was appointed director of the New Jersey Highfields project for rehabilitating juvenile offenders, Houston became the first Negro ever appointed superintendent of a state institution in New Jersey.

Houston moved into the post at Hopewell after five years as psychologist at a New Jersey reformatory.

His is only one example of the appointment or election of Negroes to state or municipal posts in recent months. Negro clamor for recognition and job equality was a factor in some cases but not in all.

In St. Louis, the Rev. John J. Hicks became the first Negro elected president of the city Board of Education.

In New York, Manhattan Borough President Edward R. Dudley was elected without opposition as chairman of the New York Democratic County Committee, the first Negro to hold the ceremonial post.

In Albany, N.Y., Lawrence W. Pierce, a deputy New York City police commissioner, was appointed director of the State Division of Youth.

Other examples of Negroes' appointment or election to important posts:

Los Angeles—Leslie N. Shaw, acting postmaster of Los Angeles. He is vice president of a savings and loan association. San Francisco—Dr. William J. Cobb, a civic leader, the city's first school department human relations officer. He is the first of his race to become a school administrator in the San Francisco Bay area. His task is the elimination of racial tensions in the city's schools.

Lansing, Mich.—Damon J. Keith, a Detroit attorney and active Democrat, co-chairman of the state's new civil rights Commission; State Supreme Court Judge Otis N. Smith. Twenty Negroes have been named to state posts or advisory commission jobs by Republican Gov. George Romney since Jan. 1.

Cleveland, Ohio—William Walker, publisher of the Cleveland Call & Post, became the first Negro of cabinet rank to head a state department, that of industrial relations. He was appointed by Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Denver, Colo.—Jerome C. Rose, director of the city motor vehicle department. He had been employed in the city auditor's office and was high man in a 1960 civil service examination for the assistant director's post.

Boston—Atty. Gen. Edward Brooks, first of his race to hold such a post in any state.

Hartford, Conn.—Gerald Lamb, state treasurer.

Honolulu—Helen Hale, county Democratic chairman for the Hawaiian Islands.

Nashville, Tenn.—Willard Bowden, one of five members of the State Parole Board; Dr. Harold D. West, member of the State Board of Education. Each is the first Negro on his respective board. Bowden was the state's first Negro tax investigator and the first Negro parole officer. West is president of Meharry Medical School (Negro).

Raleigh, N.C.—Sarah H. Herbin, assistant to gubernatorial aide Dave S. Coltrane, and Dr. John T. Taylor, retired dean of North Carolina College, employment service representatives. They will help recruit Negroes for "non-traditional" jobs.

RAIL ROYALTY—Santa Fe's "Miss Railroad" is the wielder of the scepter for the American Railway Progress Exposition in Chicago. And it is quite a realm. Equipment valued at 40 million dollars was on display. "Miss Railroad" is Margo Spinker, of Elgin, Ill.

News Special Was Truly Unusual

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—"Crisis: Behind a Presidential Commitment" a special ABC news program Monday night, was truly an unusual piece of broadcasting enterprise.

The most remarkable aspect was that producer Robert Drew managed to have his cameras and sound equipment with the principals during the critical moments in the turbulent days last June when the Kennedy administration was preparing for a showdown on the admission of two Negro students to the University of Alabama.

The cameras covered not only the President of the United States and the attorney general and his top aides, but Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and the two students as well.

Fascinating and enlightening were the intimate scenes showing Robert Kennedy in his shirt sleeves and prowling his office nervously planning Justice Department moves. There were scenes of a council meeting in President Kennedy's office with a worried and tired-looking young man in a rocking chair, doing more listening than talking—until he made his decision. Frequently to protect privacy, the sound portions of conversations and telephone calls were omitted. But most of the time the Kennedy brothers went about their work completely oblivious to the cameras.

Gov. Wallace used his moments with the candid camera to emphasize first his position and later his bitterness over federal intervention to enforce a court order.

It was a great broadcast. It may very well start anew a lot of arguments about the way the affair was handled by all concerned.

Television trouble does not necessarily mean that the show is bad. The worst sort comes when a compelling show, for some reason or other, is particularly attractive.

In those cases, the jacking-up procedure falls on the publicity and exploitation departments. Stars and supporting players are sent out on exhausting public appearance trips to talk up their programs through endless interviews and guest shots on local radio and television shows.

In other cases, there are closed circuit television news conferences, which put work-bound stars before cameras in Hollywood, fielding questions telephoned in from reporters all over the country.

In cases where the show itself seems to be failing, emergency repairs are attempted. "The Travels of Jaimie McPheeters," for instance, just added a new character, Charles Bronson, who has a reputation for helping ailing shows.

Last season, he was pulled into the cast of "Empire" late in the season—too late, however, to save the show. "The Judy Garland Show," however, holds the season's repair record.

MISTRESS OF BLAIN-VIEW FARM—No rocking-chair farmer, Mary Rice lends an active hand in the running of her 246-acre Blain-View Farm nestled in the Tuscarora Mountains in Pennsylvania's Perry County. Widowed since 1957, Mrs. Rice, with the aid of a brother and a son, has made a name for herself in the country around Blain, Pa., as "a real good dairy farmer." Her Holsteins ranked No. 2 in the county last year.

Credit Card Business Is Firming Up

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The credit card business is firming up after going through some rocky times.

This is due mainly to two factors: The card companies have weened out the bad risks that got into their profits in the early days of the business.

New Internal Revenue Service regulations on expense accounts have made substantiation of certain expenditures necessary.

And, says Howard L. Clark, president of American Express Co., which is observing the fifth anniversary of its entrance into the credit card business: "The rise in credit card use is a reflection of more and more people deciding that a credit card is a respectable and useful document."

The Big Three of the credit card field are Diners Club, American Express and Carte Blanche. Together they represent about 2.5 million cardholders who pay dues of $8 million annually and account for $450 million in receivables.

Clark said profits from American Express credit cards this year will be substantial but the company does not break down net income of the cards from other activities. He predicted that credit card volume for 1963 will total $235 million against $189 million last year.

Diners Club had $200 million in worldwide receivables in 1962 and said volume and profit would be up this year.

Carte Blanche's receivables dropped from $104 million in 1961 to $85 million in 1962. Current figures were not immediately available.

In addition to the Big Three, there are about 40 bank credit plans remaining out of about 100 which were formed during the initial rush to get into the field.

There also are retail credit card plans which cater chiefly to customers of shopping centers.

Cardholders pay an annual fee for membership. They can charge meals, hotel expenses, etc. The establishment patronized pays the credit card company a percentage and the company bills the member.

The credit card companies provides forms on which the cardholder can designate the time and place and the reason for his expenditure. This furnishes a record for submission to the Internal Revenue Service, which now requires an accounting of expense account expenditures exceeding $25.

Man Convicted of Murder

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Raymond Ralph Roberts, 47, of El Dorado, was convicted in U.S. District Court Tuesday of murdering Dr. Keith Herlocker, 48, a psychologist, at the North Little Rock Veterans Administration Hospital last March 4.

The jury reduced the charge from first degree murder to second degree murder. The defense presented no witnesses.

Roberts, a patient at the hospital at the time of the shooting, was arrested off hospital grounds after Herlocker was wounded.

Herlocker was hit in the ear by a bullet from a .32 caliber revolver and died two days later. The jury deliberated for 90 minutes before reaching its verdict in the two-day trial.

Judge J. Smith Henley scheduled sentencing for 10 a.m. Thursday. He had ruled that Roberts could not use insanity as a defense because doctors at a federal hospital in Springfield, Mo., had found him sane.

Emergency Group Plans Seminar

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A one-day seminar on practical politics will be held at Little Rock Nov. 2, by the Women's Emergency Committee.

Topics to be discussed at the seminar include school financing, school consolidation, educational opportunities for Negroes and white, political organization techniques, group action and individual political responsibility.

The committee has been active in Little Rock and state elections since its organization during the Little Rock racial crisis in 1958. Spokesmen said women from throughout Arkansas would be invited to the seminar.

Ozark Voters Approve Bonds
OZARK, Ark. (AP)—A proposed $75,000 bond issue to match a $150,000 federal grant to widen and pave city streets was approved Tuesday, 303 to 121, by Ozark voters.

The bonds, authorized by the City Council last week, are to be retired in 30 years, with the provision that they can be called sooner if revenue justified such pre-payment.

One of Arkansas' greatest soldiers was General Patrick Cleburne who is often called "the Stonewall Jackson of the West".

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The extended drought in Arkansas is beginning to take its toll on livestock, poultry and to effect winter farming and hunting.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock holds little hope for relief. Its five-day forecast today predicted temperatures five to 10 degrees above normal and only a chance of scattered showers. They are expected to bring one fourth to one half inch of rain early next week.

Shower coverage will be spotty then, and land preparation and fall seeding will continue to be delayed.

The forecast called for clear to partly cloudy skies through Thursday with highs 64 to 90 and lows 46 to 58.

Maximums were in the 80s Tuesday with overnight lows in the upper 40s and 50s. A record of 88 was set in Little Rock. It was the 16th record in 22 days this month.

The forest fire threat in the state remained critical and hunting in 10 east Arkansas counties has been halted.

The Forestry Commission fought 34 fires which burned over 501 acres Tuesday. One large fire in the Harrison area destroyed 300 acres.

The others were small. State Forester Fred Lang said, "Our boys are staying pretty well on top of the fires. We're getting most of them out before they spread."

Broiler production in the northwest and west central sections of the state is being threatened by an increasingly short water supply, the U. S. Reporting Service said today.

The service also said heavy marketing of livestock was reported from these areas due to feed and water shortages. The drought has severely affected hay production in some areas. Pastures are very poor and sup-

"Another possibility has come up since then — Blake," Todd went on. "They've built up a strong case against him. What they're going to do to him will wreck his life. If you believe I'm guilty, how can you let them go ahead with it? Why don't you go to the police and tell them he's the wrong man? Tell them I'm really the one they want."

She recoiled from the thought of it.

"You're my daughter's husband. How would Ruth feel toward me if I —"

"There's much more at stake than Ruth's feelings. If you know I'm really guilty, and if I'm willing to let Blake take the rap in my place, how can you fail to speak up for him?"

"Todd, what you're saying is . . . is crazy!" In the eerie green glow of the pool water her face looked like a frightened manikin's. "There isn't any evidence against you. It would only be my word . . . and I can't be certain. No! I couldn't . . . couldn't ever."

"Ah? So you're not too sure about me! The police may be right — it must be Blake after all!"

She shook her head almost hysterically. "I don't know what to think! Why must I think anything? I can't do anything about it!"

"You might think this, Tessa: If it were neither of us, then of course it had to be someone else; and in that case the guilty person will sit back safe and untouched, and let Blake go through the wringer."

"What are you doing to me? I don't know why you're talking to me like this. You're trying to make me say something I can't put into words. You . . . you seem to be forcing me to decide which one of you two men murdered Val."

Blake had listened dumbfounded. Tessa's own question had been spinning through his mind: what was Todd doing to her? In some oblique way he seemed to be trying to clarify some area of the situation in his own mind while leaving it dark in Blake's. In doing so, he had pressed her into a position of painful strain.

Two cars had stopped at the curb. The first was a police cruiser; Chief Kresh was at the wheel and a young patrolman named Ed Lanson was sitting beside him. As they ducked out, Lieutenant Barcello and another man, a stranger to Blake, alighted from the second car. Barcello indicated the way and they walked side by side toward the garage and out of sight.

Tessa was sitting up again, looking confused and offended. "What do they want? What are they doing out there — in Win's shop?"

She was rising indignantly when Barcello reappeared alone. "Perhaps you don't know there has been a death in this house. I'm too upset for this sort of thing. It can't be so important. Besides, you're embarrassing me in front of my neighbors. Police cars coming."

"I'm sincerely sorry," While Tessa glared at him, pinching her lips together, Barcello went on. "I have the necessary papers for what I must do."

Blake had seen them in his left hand — not just one search warrant this time, but two. Barcello separated them, retained one and handed the other to Tessa. While she stood looking at it uncomprehendingly, he glanced over his shoulder and nodded to Chief Kresh. Immediately the chief and Lanson went into the house. Blake watched them turning toward the bedrooms, as unprepared for this move as Tessa had been.

She fumbled with the warrant in a daze, unfolded it, stared at it. She blurted, "But there isn't — I don't understand!"

Then she closed both hands on the document, crushing it and stood staring round-eyed at Barcello, too stunned to say more.

"Mrs. Wingate," Barcello said, explaining himself. "I had an interesting phone call today. The phone call was from a man. He told me that he and his girl were in a rowboat on the bay night before last — the night Mrs. Hayward was killed. They were drifting along near the sea wall at this part of the island when they noticed someone swimming. They had noticed the lights of Mrs. Hayward's boat and this swimmer was coming straight from that direction. They saw the swimmer rise out of the water and climb over the sea wall in front of this house. In the light from the windows they could see the woman quite clearly — a woman wearing a blue-and-white flowered swim suit."

Tessa blurted, "No!"

"I noticed you in this pool yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Win-

Candidates Disagree on Key Issues

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater disagree on some vital issues but they are in accord in advocating a two-front attack on President Kennedy in 1964.

In answers to a series of identical questions submitted to them separately by The Associated Press, the two potential contenders for the GOP presidential nomination disclosed a deep division over civil rights legislation.

The New York governor and the Arizona senator voiced opposing views on how to provide medical care for the elderly, the need for right-to-work laws and whether there should be an immediate tax cut.

In the international field they stood together in opposition to any American pull-out from Viet Nam. Both cautioned against being lulled by Soviet overtures for peaceful coexistence. Their answers about what to do about the Cuba problem were relatively similar. They differed in degree over the limited nuclear test-ban treaty's effect.

Rockefeller served notice he did not regard answers to the questions as a substitute for a face-to-face debate with Goldwater over party policies. Goldwater said he was willing to debate "the weaknesses of the Kennedy administration" but saw little value in Republicans debating Republicans.

Both men picked foreign policy and the state of the domestic economy as prime two-pronged issues against Kennedy in 1964.

The governor and the senator were asked if they felt a Republican could defeat Kennedy without strong electoral support from the South, where Goldwater reportedly has much more strength than Rockefeller.

Goldwater said that to defeat Kennedy, would require "substantial electoral support from all sections of the country, not just any particular one."

Rockefeller said he believes "that the Republican nominee, running on a forward-looking platform which really meets the nation's needs, will receive substantial support in every section of the country."

The differences between Goldwater and Rockefeller were sharpest in response to a question as to what, if any, civil rights legislation Congress should pass.

The senator said his "basic feeling is that legislation will not solve the civil rights problem." The governor contended that "the federal government has a deep moral and constitutional responsibility to guarantee equal rights for every American citizen."

Goldwater said: "I completely oppose the public accommodations section (to enforce integration on business firms serving

Judgment Against Rubber Company

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Chancellor Claude E. Love granted Union County a $3,111,750 judgment against Chase-Grocord Rubber Co. of El Dorado and Chase & Sons, Inc., of Randolph, Mass. Tuesday.

Love also granted a foreclosure lien against Chase-Grocord and named Rush Hooten, Union County circuit clerk, as commissioner to sell the El Dorado plant if the judgment is not satisfied in 10 days.

No appeal was filed Tuesday. The suit was filed after Chase-Grocord closed operations last June for financial reasons.

Cotton Bill Action Slated

WASHINGTON (AP)—A cotton bill to provide a government subsidy so that domestic textile mills can buy American cotton at a price competitive with foreign mills has been scheduled for action shortly after Nov. 11, House Democratic leaders said Tuesday.

An export subsidy of 8½ cents a pound now is paid on American cotton so it can be sold abroad at the world price.

Domestic mills have, in recent years, turned to synthetic fabrics because they cannot compete if they must buy at the high U.S. price.

Politicians Have Year to Lather Up

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Luckily for the politicians of both parties, they have a year to work themselves into a lather for the 1964 presidential campaign.

It would be dull, indeed, if it were held tomorrow.

At this moment neither President Kennedy nor two of the most prominent Republican presidential hopefuls — New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater — are giving off heat rays.

There are no crises. None is in sight. The country as a whole is complacent. The evidence for that is in the almost incredible tardiness of Congress, which would be a lot livelier if it were under heavy public pressure.

President Kennedy seems to be banking on the idea of making his main campaign theme peace and prosperity—provided that between now and the 1964 race things turn out the way he hopes.

Such a theme, while it might prove very successful for him at the polls, is hardly exciting. Kennedy outlined it at his news conference Oct. 9 and drummed on it a bit, although obliquely, over the weekend.

At his news conference Kennedy said that if Congress passes his tax cut bill the economy will be buoyant in 1964 and he expressed the wish that by this time next year the chances of war will have been reduced.

In an address at the University of Maine last Saturday he mentioned some of the "gains we have made down the road to peace" although he spent most of his time warning that any total peace is a long way off.

In a sense his talk was a defense against some of the criticism already thrown at him—by Goldwater, for instance — for agreements like the limited nuclear test ban and approval of any U.S. wheat sales to the Communist bloc.

His point was that his administration is doing what it can to assure peace. There wasn't anything inflammable about it. But at this point Rockefeller and Goldwater aren't very fiery, either.

They both have pecked away at the President's performance but they are unable to agree on what to peck away at, which leaves Kennedy in the wonderful political position of being able to say: "Let's you and him fight."

Texarkana to Decide on Bonds

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Texarkana voters will decide Nov. 26 on a $1 million bond issue to finance expansion of the North American Car Corporation's new plant facilities.

The firm, which makes and repairs railroad cars, was given $5 million in industrial revenue bonds in Feb. 1963, but sold only $3.2 million for construction of the plant. The remainder of the Act 9 bonds were cancelled.

The Act 9 bonds to be voted on Nov. 26 will be retired by rental fees and carry no tax obligation.

So it's not their fight with Kennedy but with each other that promises the most excitement for at least the starting months of 1964.

If by campaign time there have been no new international crises, or serious setbacks for this country overseas, the campaign heat will probably come mostly from Democratic-Republican differences over running things at home.

Teen-Agers Have Billions to Spend

Editors note—Teen-agers, the fastest growing segment of the population, have emerged since World War II as a dynamic factor in the economy. This first of two articles tells the size and impact of their multibillion-dollar purchasing power.

By JACK LEFLER
NEW YORK (AP) — There's gold in those blue jeans pockets. Teen-agers have billions of dollars to spend.

The market they make up is a phenomenon of modern merchandising. Merchants who were in the habit of lumping youngsters' spending with that of the family are going all out to cater to their widely diversified needs and desires.

They realize now that the teen-age market is independent and expanding rapidly. It is estimated that there are 11,065,000 teen-age girls in the United States and that there will be 13,116,000 by 1970.

They have $6.3 billion a year of their own to spend.

There are more than nine million boys 14 to 17 years old—"teen-men," the storekeepers like to call them.

These youths have an estimated $16 billion of expendable income.

The rising proportion of youthful consumers in the population stems from the post-World War II surge in the birth rate.

The increase in the U.S. population between 1960 and 1970 is estimated at between 12 and 22 per cent. But the number of youngsters in the free-spending 15-to-19-year-old segment will spur more than 40 per cent.

"Until after World War II business had never shown much interest in the young woman under 20—in fact no one did except teen-age boys," says Enid A. Haupt, editor of Seventeen magazine, a publication for girls.

"In just this short span of time teens have catapulted into the economic limelight, their pockets bulging with dollars to

Justices Who Favored Reds Still on Court

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — It's odd what time does.

Take the case of two Communists in 1958, Gilbert Green and Henry Winston, and today take the case of two Mississippians, Gov. Ross Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr.

Another Mississippian, Sen. James O. Eastland, constant critic of the Supreme Court, figures in this, too. Lawyers for Barnett and Johnson were arguing for both of them today before the court.

In 1949 Green and Winston were two of 11 top Communist leaders convicted in U.S. District Court—after a jury trial—of conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the government. They were sentenced to five years.

The Communists appealed to the Supreme Court which in 1951 upheld their conviction. Green and Winston jumped bond and scrambled. They were fugitives for years.

They were then given an additional three-year sentence for contempt of court—this sentence stemmed from their flight—by the U.S. District Court without a jury trial.

When they were caught they spend, their spirits filled with the desire for new things, new experiences, new loyalties.

"They have become a separate and distinct group in our society—they're the new frontier of the economy—they're the unexpected bonanza for industry."

The boys represent an even bigger market than girls as far as their own money is concerned. That's because many pad out their allowances from the family with jobs after school and on weekends.

Young buyers are highly conscious of brand names promoted in advertisements, marketing analysts have found.

The teen-age market is wide open to the alert advertiser, says Eugene Gilbert, president of Eugene Gilbert Co., research and survey organization.

"Teen-agers are a follow-the-leader group," he adds. "They are more susceptible to advertising than any other age group."

appealed this sentence, too, to the Supreme Court, arguing it was unconstitutional to be tried by a court without a jury.

In 1958 the Supreme Court, by a 5-4 vote, again turned them down. The majority voting against them were Justices John M. Harlan, Tom C. Clark, Charles E. Whittaker, Harold H. Burton and Felix Frankfurter.

Whittaker, Burton and Frankfurter have since left the court. In their places now are Arthur J. Goldberg, Byron White and Potter Stewart.

But the four dissenters who voted against the Communists' contempt conviction in 1958 are still on the court: Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justices Hugo Black, William O. Douglas and William J. Brennan.

Brennan didn't dissent on constitutional grounds about trial by jury. He just said he considered the evidence against Green and Winston insufficient to convict them.

The other three agreed the Communists had a right to trial by jury for contempt.

Four years later—on May 2, 1962—Eastland made a blazing attack on the court with a list, going back for years, on how the individual justices had voted in Communist cases.

He said the vote of Warren, Douglas, Black and Brennan against the conviction of Green and Winston for contempt was a vote "in accordance with positions advocated by Communists. He put this in the Congressional Record."

But later in 1962 James H. Meredith, a Negro, wanted to enter the University of Mississippi. A federal court ordered Barnett and Johnson not to interfere with Meredith's admission. They interfered.

Before Meredith finally got into the school there was a riot, two men were killed, and President Kennedy had to use troops and U.S. marshals to get Meredith in. He graduated this year.

A U.S. Court of Appeals charged Barnett and Johnson with contempt of court for their part in the obstruction to Meredith. But—is it constitutional for the appellate court to try them without a jury? Or should they have a jury trial?

Monday and today lawyers for Barnett and Johnson went before the Supreme Court to argue they must have a jury trial and asking the court to reverse that 1958 ruling in the case of the two Communists.

In their written argument the

Burton Hearing at His Convenience

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — North Little Rock attorney Marion B. Burton can have a hearing on a contempt of court charge against him at his convenience, Conway Circuit Judge Wiley Bean said Tuesday.

Burton said Tuesday night he did not know when he would seek the hearing.

Bean jailed Burton for three hours and 15 minutes Monday after the attorney refused to answer some questions from the judge during a conference in the

Couple Petitions to Keep Children

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Supreme Court will be asked Thursday to countermand a Polk County Probate Court order assigning custody of a Polk County couple's children to the custody of the Welfare Department.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Cude have petitioned the court to stay the order until they have time to prepare a full appeal. The judge's chambers. A libel trial against Gene Wirges, publisher of the Morrilton Democrat, was underway at the time. Burton was a defense witness. Conway County Clerk C. C. Brewer, the plaintiff, was awarded $75,000 in damages. He had asked $100,000.

Bean ordered Burton jailed after questioning him about his connections with the Republican Party.

couple's three children were ordered turned over to the Welfare Department by Judge Wiley Howard because the couple refused for religious beliefs to have the children vaccinated against smallpox.

Pros. Atty. Ben Core said the oldest Cude child, Wayne, 11, had not been to school since 1959 when he finished the second grade.

Core added that Cude had been convicted three times for failure to comply with the state's compulsory school attendance law.

In their petition, the Cudes said they had attempted to enroll the children in school but were refused because children are required by law to be vaccinated for smallpox.
